SUGGESTIONS

On the Musical Atmosphere of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and Details for the Handling of Special Effects.

"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN" is an epic of the old South, and embraces one of the most stirring and picturesque periods in American history—it has graced the boards of American theatres for seventy-five years.

THROUGH the medium of this beautiful drama, probably the greatest human story ever written, countless stars have been made. There is scarcely an old actor or actress living, who has not at some time played some part in "Uncle Tom's Cabin"; the names of "Eliza," "Uncle Tom," "Little Eva," "Topsy," "Simon Legree" and "Marks the Lawyer," are American household words.

THIS motion picture, then, is dedicated to the American people, so that there may be preserved for all time, a classic of American life that takes rank with the works of Victor Hugo and Charles Dickens in their interpretations of other periods in older lands. It is therefore most important that you adhere strictly to the old American tunes of the South, in order to establish that quaint atmosphere well known to us all.

WHILE the Greater Thematic Music Score sheet, as herein contained, represents my conception of the picture's atmosphere, I do not necessarily mean to convey the impression that substitutions for numbers I have suggested cannot be effectively made. On the contrary, if your library does not contain all of the suggested numbers in the Greater Thematic Music Score sheet, or, if you feel that with your combination of instruments, you can improve a particular situation by making a change, you will at least be able to get the original idea of the prevailing atmosphere or more, through having the line of music to guide you, as presented on the following pages. It is essential, however, that the music be Southern in character with the exception of the "high spots" and character themes.

REGARDLESS of whether the musical numbers, as suggested, be played, or whether you make the substitutions, it is of the utmost importance what the effects suggested on the cue sheet be religiously carried out.

PART I

- Cues 1, 2. A short broad Prelude of about twelve measures—introducing "Swanee River" in paraphrase style. See cue to No. 2, as enumerated on the music sheet, starting at the Oboe Solo, the Andante movement.
- Cue 3. A popular song of the Southern Army—"The Bonnie Blue Flag"; play in a dignified style for the insert of General Robert E. Lee.
- Cues 4, 5. A bright neutral Southern tune of activity and happiness for a cheerful day on the old plantation.
- Cue 6. An original old Southern "darkey" air to follow the singing of the little picaninnies when they see Eliza
- Cue 7. A light Allegretto in 6/8 tempo.
- Cue 8. Repeat the picaninnies song at Cue No. 6.
- Cue 9. A melodious Andante of the sentimental style.
- Cue 10. A bright Southern Intermezzo of the Sand Dance style.
- Cue 11. A melodious Amoroso to show the kindly nature of Shelby.
- Cue 12. A Maestoso selection of the "Wedding March" type.
- Cue 13. An Old Southern song of the "Old Kentucky Home" style.
- Cue 14. A slow dance Waltz of the swinging character for the dancing of Shelby's guests.
- Cue 15. LOVE THEME: A sweet Ballad in the simple style of pathos and love. Play "PP" con sordini, strings only.
- Cue 16. A bright "nigger" dance of the Sand Dance style for the distant dancing of the negroes.
- Cue 17. A slow dance Waltz similar or the same as played at Cue No. 15.
- Cue 18. LOVE THEME: A sweet love Ballad as previously enumerated.
- Cue 19. UNCLE TOM THEME: An old fashioned Southern style selection to follow Uncle Tom on his pilgrimage through the production; one a bit sentimental in character.
- Cue 20. A bright Allegro or Allegretto to follow the happy antics of the children and guests.
